

Dr. Anand K. Joshi leads the CMR University's vision to ensure the transformational developments of students as creative thinkers who will drive positive global change. His role is to foster an environment, a team and a curriculum that nurtures a bold and creative spirit. Dr. Joshi has been associated with CMRU since its inception, and has been instrumental in strengthening the University's educational ecosystem through knowledge partnerships and collaborations with stalwarts in both industry and academia.

Dr. Joshi has over 26 years of academic and administrative experience at Indira Gandhi National Open University (IGNOU), National Council for Teachers Education (NCTE), All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE), Ministry of Textiles, Govt. of India and Welingkar B-School. He has taught at reputed institutes such as ICAI, ICSI, ICWAI.

An eminent educationist, he often shared his thoughts on education at Doordarshan Kendra, Bangalore and regional channels. His writings frequently appear in the 'Times of India' (Education Times). Several of his articles have been published in the "Speaking Tree" of Times of India and the 'Times Higher Book 2014'.

His case study has been acclaimed in the "ISB-IVEY Case Study Competition 2011", and published by 'Harvard Business Publishing' and 'Richard Ivey School of Publishing'. He also received the prestigious 'AIMA's Best Research Award 2011'. As a speaker and panelist, he has delivered more than 100 keynote addresses at seminars and conferences. He has more than 35 National / International publications and 6 citations.

Dr. Joshi also has presented a well attended and acclaimed Case study presentation at the Indian Institute of Management Ahmedabad (IIMA) in 1996